DESCRIPTION

Serving as the general contractor, CGT Construction executed the ground-up new construction of this six-unit multifamily development in West Philadelphia, transforming a complex vision into a high-value reality. Leveraging over nine years of industry expertise, this project required a sophisticated balance of high-end design and technical precision, from the initial engineering and feasibility consulting to the final turn-key delivery. By integrating modern layouts with durable, high-performance systems and intentional finishes, we maximized ROI for our investment partners without compromising quality or integrity. This development stands as a premier example of our commitment to excellence in multi-unit residential construction, delivering a private sanctuary for residents while emphasizing long-term structural value and timeless urban elegance.
